

PROJECT ARCHITECT 2iC/ REVIT DOCUMENTERS RECRUITMENT - MELBOURNE

About the business

Genton is a multi-award winning Architecture and design practice with offices in Sydney and Melbourne. The practice boasts a diverse portfolio of Architecture and Urban Design projects by our diverse and inclusive team of skilled Architects, interior designers, 3D-modellers and documentation experts.

About the role

We are looking for a Project Architect/2iC to join our growing team in Melbourne

We offer this to motivated professionals with proven experience in delivering complex projects as our portfolio covers public projects, technical, residential, arts and cultural buildings, transport and precinct planning that requires exceptionally high attention to detail, strong technical and construction knowledge to achieve the clarity of our design approach.

You will work in a team orientated environment where you will be involved in all stages of projects from design concept to construction stage services.

You will be a high calibre applicant who is dynamic, enjoys a challenge and has superior organisational skills. We are seeking an enthusiastic, capable and reliable project architect who is able to work across all stages of a project and maintain their high level of service to all their clients. You should be able to demonstrate strong technical and construction knowledge and the ability to deliver quality design-driven documentation.

You must be reliable with exceptionally high attention to detail and your design skills will be highly regarded. To be successful in the role you will have:

- Minimum 5 years' experience as an experienced Graduate Architect or Registered Architect who can work across all project stages.
- Experience on projects of a reasonable scale and/or complexity
- Excellent communication and presentation skills
- Technical proficiencies in Adobe Creative suite, Revit and other tools to communicate design intent including sketching or Rhino
- An ability to work on multiple projects/assignments at a time
- You care about attention to detail
- Ability to prioritise and identify key issues to resolve problems effectively and proactively
- Accountability and ownership of the work you undertake, being a team player that positively supports the project team
- Must be a permanent resident with strong communication skills
- Salary negotiable based on experience

This role is full time and will be based in Melbourne with one day a week work from home that we support, however we may require you to work across office and project office.

Please send a portfolio of your work (max 10Mb) along with CV to: careers@genton.com.au
