

ARCHICAD POWER USER – ARCHITECT OR TECHNICIAN DOCUMENTOR

Law Architects is an award winning, medium sized, well established practice in Fitzroy North. We work in a range of building types, but with particular depth in the education setting. Right now we are making places where people work, reside, learn and perform.

Our work culture is mutually respectful, friendly, flexible and informal. Due to COVID-19, we are all currently working from home and thinking about how we can innovatively hack our work practices and maintain flexibility as the office becomes an option again.

We are looking for someone with depth in using ArchiCAD, in a smart and efficient way, to take a valued and central role in accelerating our transition to ArchiCAD/Twinmotion. Here's what else we are looking for:

- You have an extensive knowledge of construction - you know how buildings are put together to code, how to keep the water out, how to solve a tricky detail neatly and how to communicate the whole story clearly in a considered documentation set. You may have gained this experience with an Architecture practice or with a mid size or larger builder.
- Very importantly, you have experience in either educational, institutional or community facility projects or complex residential - from design through to the end of construction. Predominantly multi-res, high rise or volume residential won't be enough.
- You are capable of clearly communicating with other professionals and builders, making sure that everyone is on the same page and issues are uncovered, tabled and dealt with before they become a problem.
- You are confident in proposing your own solutions, but enjoy learning from others, sharing knowledge and being transparent and collaborative. In fact, you'd be relied upon as an expert and trainer to others in ArchiCAD.
- We expect your level of skill could only come from a minimum of 5 years experience in Australia.
- Initiative and ownership are highly valued in our practice.

To apply, send your resume, portfolio and covering letter briefly addressing the above to admin@lawarchitects.com.au. If we get to meet you virtually, we would like to talk over examples of your own work.

Please only apply if you can make a strong case against this description.
