

NHO bespoke careers

NHO is working with Bespoke Careers to source a leading Communications Manager for their growing global agency. Known for their collaborative approach to branding and strategic approach to marketing and communications across the built environment of interior design, architecture and property, the NHO team are unified by their vision for elevating the value of design through considered brand strategy and marketing.

The Communications Manager will be overseeing and managing the day-to-day activity for clients and will be responsible for the full public relations client portfolio. The role also calls for support of NHO's long term objectives including the strategic improvement of the effectiveness and efficiency of the Communications function, development of department strategy, implementation of systems and processes and nurturing the professional development of direct reports.

This is both a leadership and hands-on role. Key responsibilities of the role include:

1. Department Planning, Systems & Processes
2. Professional Development & People Management of Direct Reports
3. Client Service & Account Management
4. Strategic Planning & Implementation of Comprehensive Marketing Communications and PR Action Plans
5. Face of the Agency in Media Settings

The successful candidate will have 8 to 10 years' experience in a similar role - either agency or client side - and a tertiary qualification in Marketing, Communications or related field. Experience in managing a team is essential, as is a personal and demonstrated passion for design and a strong knowledge of and contacts within the media and design industry. Experience working within the design industry is advantageous but not essential.

Other essential qualities include:

- Intuitive and observant with an eye for detail
- Considered and empathetic communicator, both written and verbal
- Commercially minded and client-centric approach to account management
- Strategic, analytical and creative thinker
- Exceptional time management skills and natural flare for efficiency
- Self-motivated and focused with an ambition for success
- Effective manager and supportive mentor
- Emotionally intelligent approach to interpersonal relationships
- Positive contributor to team
- Collaborative and autonomous in equal measure and as required
- Proud, passionate and accountable, regardless of the task at hand
- Strong copywriting skills and portfolio of writing examples
