Senior Project Architect

Archier is a highly-collaborative multi-disciplinary design studio. With a deep commitment to sustainability and transparency, we offer a conscious approach that contributes to a better quality of life whilst maximizing value to our clients and improving the built environment. Our vision is to profoundly impact the greatest number of people through architecture.

Our work encompasses residential, commercial and government architecture; public and private landscape projects; as well as the design and manufacture of furniture, lighting and fabrication. Our directors have over 25 years of combined experience and were drawn together to create an inclusive practice that is truly outcome orientated. We have won awards across a range of disciplines connected to the built environment that recognise our design excellence and innovation, along with our commitment to sustainable buildings and the environment. Our innovative designs are focused on material honesty, thermal performance and constructibility, as we strive for affordable and responsive architecture that contributes to the public domain.

We are moving into a unique new spot in the market and are seeking to expand our team in order to scale.
