

Project Architect

Searle x Waldron Architecture is looking for an experienced Project Architect to join our passionate and growing team! We are an award-winning design practice focused on public, community and educational architecture. We are interested in the potential for civic architecture to do more.

As part of a close-knit and collaborative studio, you will be leading small and focused teams, as well as work closely with Suzannah our director. This position will be an ongoing role working on ambitious new and existing projects from design stages to completion.

—

SXWA are looking for someone with:

- Experience in documentation and contract administration
- Ability to work independently as well as leading a close-knit team
- Problem solving skills and initiative
- Clear communication skills and attention to detail
- 5+ years local experience
- Experience in education, institutional and public sectors is preferable

—

Your responsibilities will be to:

- Manage the delivery of projects to completion
- Coordinate the consultant team and input
- Liaise with clients, stakeholders and contractors to ensure the project is being delivered to a high standard
- Lead the project team, both internal and external
- Strong detailing skills and experience to ensure buildability and durability of the design concept

—

We offer:

- An enthusiastic, inclusive, and engaged team
- Consistent friendly work hours
- Flexible working arrangements
- Professional development opportunities
- Remuneration commensurate with experience

—

To apply please email your CV and portfolio to info@sxwa.com.au with subject line 'Project Architect Role'.

Following an interview, the successful applicant will commence as soon as possible.